QOSA is proud to announce that Richard Gill is again presenting a two day course exploring the fundamental repertoire of Music For Children, Volumes I-V by Carl Orff and Gunild Keetman. This will be followed by a one day workshop focussed on improvising with the voice and instruments in the music classroom, in the light of the new Australian Curriculum.

The course will explore the historical basis for the pieces in the Volumes including connections with music of today. Richard's knowledge of the repertoire is insurmountable as he brings the "brown books" to life, and uses the repertoire as a starting point for improvisation and its application to the classroom. Whilst it may be attended by teachers of all experience levels, it is particularly aimed at those who have completed at least a Level 1 Orff Teacher Training Course.

The workshop will be relevant for teachers of students aged 4-15 years and is open to all music educators who are interested in Music within the new Australian Curriculum.

We hope you will join us for one or both of these exceptional experiences.
